Racing at Mallala

Thanks to roving reporter Greg Woods for sending through these photos and info from the historic race meeting held at Mallala over ANZAC weekend.

The yellow C7 is owned by Norm Beechy, a well known and successful touring car racer of the 60's and early 70's. There was a great car club display on the lawns behind the stands with the Monaro, AC Cobra, Cortina, Austin Healy and E-Type Jag clubs well represented, along with a mixture of others (including 2 C4's). All these cars had the opportunity to do parade laps around the track at lunchtime.

Bendigo Road Trip

28th National Corvette Convention travels.
Corvette Club of South Australia Inc.

Another major event over and the chance for the Corvette family to have their annual get together with another great set of activities put together by the combined efforts of Corvettes of Melbourne and Vic Vettes.

This is the seventh event in succession Jenny and I have attended and each year we look forward to the next to catch up with our Corvette friends.

It is also the chance to travel with those interested from our club both to and from these nationals and have a good time along the way. Half the fun over Easter is the trip over and back and this year was no exception.

As Neil has already mentioned in last month's newsletter there were two groups which travelled over and leaving and returning at different times to work around their commitments.

We had seven Vettes go over and six returned around the Ocean Road a distance of some 2,200 kilometres.

On the Thursday we met at Tailm Bend and travelled via Horsham to St Arnaud. This allowed for an easy Friday cruise into Bendigo.

After forgetting to take the hanging clothes out of the wardrobe in the St Arnaud motel and after travelling some 30 kms, Jenny and I left our group to continue on as we returned to retrieve the items. As a result we had the pleasure of being pulled over by the highway patrol to explain why he had seen us travelling to and from St Arnaud as well as a licence and rego check then again on our way. Not too much time lost.

Neil's report covered the Easter weekend events well so will not cover that again here.

Easter Monday we headed off to Geelong stopping in Maldon where the small town was packed with people visiting to see their very impressive community street parade with the Chinese theme. It was here we thought our first major C3 convertible break down had occurred with liquid dripping out of the battery box at the rear. Upon investigation this turned out to be a once full mineral water bottle, which was lying flat in the luggage compartment, overheated, expanded and burst. Easy fixed.

The things you find out about your travelling companions and in this case a library card collector. So she headed off to the Maldon library, which was open, to collect yet another card, but as she was not a local and they did not know her she could not obtain one. Very disappointing for the person concerned.

Lunch at Castlemaine, which again was very busy and after finding a table for nine people and waiting for our order we found out more about another person in our group who used to run greyhounds many years ago and at different locations in this area. He explained the tricks of how to slow them down but I can't go into that as it is an old trade secret.

From here it was plain travelling to Geelong where we were invited to catch up with members of the local Corvette Club for dinner and celebrate their tenth year anniversary and a cruise afterwards. A great night. ....Continued next page

On the Tuesday we travelled around the Bellarine Peninsular visiting places such as Portarlington, where our greyhound expert used to go for holidays when he was young, then onto Queenscliff to visit one of the many bakeries we visited for lunch. On our travels to Apollo Bay we visited the library in Torquay, able to get a card there, then by chance caught up in Anglesea on the fore-shore with Goof and Mel as well as the relations of, you guessed it, the greyhound expert. Have a photo to prove it. A very pleasing unexpected encounter.

The drive around the coast was perfect with great opportunities to take photos and as it turned out not just for us but passing travellers who would pull up with us and take photos of the cars and not the scenery.

For Wednesday our destination was Pt Fairy and as we wanted to do the Tree Top Walk in the Otway National Park we were there at 9am to avoid the crowds which worked a treat. Well worth the experience if you have not already done it.

The Twelve, well how many are left, Apostles was our next stop, but did not miss the tourists there as they were everywhere, then to Port Campbell for lunch. Most afternoons saw the tops come off of the C3's to enjoy great weather. The evening meal was at the local where we had to make plans for the next day, as nothing had been booked, so decided Robe would be our target. Accommodation was booked at that time and we could rest easy.

Thursday we left the Ocean Road and pretty well travelled straight through to Robe where we arrived early afternoon and had a leisurely day wandering around town as some of us had not spent much time there before. The evening meal was a nice stroll from the motel to the old historic Caledonian Hotel in the main street.

Friday was time to return home but not before the owner of the Lake View Motel took a photo of all the Corvettes in front of his establishment in order he could put it on Facebook. A bakery morning tea at Kingston SE and again at Meningie for lunch where we said our goodbyes and heading home individually.

We all had a ball and as this trip was so successful those who attended are already talking about the Sydney Nationals next year and the travelling destination options.

Thanks to everyone who travelled with us and those who took the trouble to attend Bendigo. John and Jenny.

Nuri Run

Mother's Day was a great reason to drag the Corvette out of the garage.....not that we ever need a reason. Neil Bailey was the cruise captain for this run out to Nuriootpa. Once everyone was at the meeting point it was time to head to the hills. Club protocols were strictly followed with the compulsory U-turn been actioned early in the run. Morning tea stop was at Lobethal which gave everyone's stomach a chance to settle down after contending with the windy roads. The stragglers (Breck & Helen) joined the group in Lobethal to bring the total number of Corvettes to 5 plus a Subaru and a Mazda. The predicted bad weather may have kept numbers down but Neil kindly organised for the torrential downpour to be delayed until the next day. From Lobethal we headed through Gumeracha where we encountered traffic chaos with the annual Medieval Fair in full swing. After clearing the congestion we enjoyed a pleasant cruise through the Barossa to our lunch destination at Nuriootpa. While waiting for lunch our President got in touch with his artistic side and created a self-portrait masterpiece with only a couple of colouring in pencils!! He did cheat to be honest, the 'Cute Koala' picture was already drawn and he only had to colour it in.

The Angus Park Pub dished us up a great lunch with servings large enough to feed a small army! They also had a special treat in store for all of the mothers who received a complimentary desert.

A great day out was had by all, thanks very much to Neil for organising such a relaxing day out!

Parting Shots

This intriguing photo has just surfaced of our Vice President Neil Bailey. Rumour has it that (allegedly) when he was on a recent trip to Sydney he went out in search of the local watering hole and “accidentally” wandered into a part of town very familiar with Sydney’s gay scene!!!

Perhaps he was in Sydney for the cricket and was unsure which team he was supposed to be batting for.....let’s hope he didn’t get his middle stump taken out by an “underhand googly” !!!

Sharon Middleton from Foundation Shine is presented with a $2000 cheques by CCSA President Laurie Witts. Keep up the good work Shine!

Serial Roof Surfer

THE LAST LAUGH

“Last week was my 40th birthday and I really didn’t feel like waking up that morning. I managed to pull myself together and go downstairs for breakfast, hoping my wife would be pleasant and say, “Happy Birthday!”, and possibly have a small present for me. As it turned out, she barely said good morning, let alone “Happy Birthday.” I thought... Well, that’s marriage for you, but the kids... They will remember.

My kids came trampling down the stairs to breakfast, ate their breakfast, and didn’t say a word to me. So when I made it out of the house and started for work, I felt pretty dumpy and despondent.

As I walked into my office, my secretary Joanne said, “Good Morning Boss, and by the way Happy Birthday!” It felt a bit better knowing that at least someone remembered. I worked in a zombie like fashion until about one o’clock, when Joanne knocked on my door and said, “You know, it’s such a beautiful day outside, and it’s your Birthday, why don’t we go out for lunch, just you and me.” I said, “Thanks, Joanne, that’s the best thing I’ve heard all day. Let’s go!”

We went to lunch but not where we’d normally go. Instead she took me to a quiet bistro with a private table. We had a couple of mixed drinks and I enjoyed the meal tremendously. On the way back to the office, Joanne said, “You know, It’s such a beautiful day... We don’t have to go right back to the office, do we?” I replied with “I suppose not. What do you have in mind?” She said, “Let’s go to my apartment, it’s just around the corner.”

After arriving at her apartment, Joanne turned to me and said, “Boss if you don’t mind, I’m gonna to step into the bedroom for just a moment. I’ll be right back.” “Ok.” I nervously replied. She went into the bedroom and, after a couple of minutes, she came out carrying a huge birthday cake...

Followed by my wife, my kids, and dozens of my friends, and co-workers, all singing “Happy Birthday”.

And I just sat there.....On the couch.....Naked. Thanks to Laurie Witts for providing this item (and sharing his own real life experiences!!!!)

THE FINAL WORD..... On a more serious note. One of our club members found out first hand recently why it is important to have your membership fees paid by the end of December. The club is legally required to inform DPTI of all members who have historic registration but are no longer financial members of the club. After this member failed to pay their membership their details were passed on to DPTI as required and they subsequently received notification from DPTI that their registration was no longer valid. They are now required to re-register their vehicle from scratch with a new club inspection and new logbook required to be paid for. The lesson to be learned is simple.....pay your fees on time and you won’t have any hassles.....don’t pay them on time and there will be consequences. Please remember that once DPTI has been notified there is nothing more that the club can do to help reinstate your current registration.
